SPAIN.

THE laſt letters from Madrid adviſe, that the King of Spain having been informed that Meſſ. Bahie, a French Houſe at Cadiz, failed lately for upwards of 1,400,000 piaſtres, and that there is great reaſon to apprehend ſome more failures in conſequence of the above in other trading cities in that Kingdom; his Catholick Majeſty immediately ordered an embargo to be laid on all French ſhips then at Cadiz, and ſeemed then determined not to permit foreigners to ſettle as merchants there for the future. Theſe letters add, that the King of Spain having diſcovered that his Confeſſor held a ſecret correſpondence with the Jeſuits, notwithſtanding his Majeſty's expreſs orders to the contrary, has not only diſmiſſed him, but has cauſed him to be arreſted, and it is thought will bring him to a publick trial.

OTRANTO, Jan. 31. An expreſs from Corfow to Venice paſſed through this place with the melancholy news, that the ſquadron of that republick, commanded by the Chevalier Emo, purſuing two pirates, was overtaken by a terrible Storm; that the Chevalier endeavouring to bring his ſhips under cover in the port of Varica, between Cerigo and the Morea, one of the ſhips ſunk with all the crew, except thirty-ſix men; that another named the Vigilance was daſhed againſt the rocks but the crew and guns were ſaved; and that the Hercules, another ſhip of the line, on board of which was the Chevalier Emo, had her maſt broke, which in falling killed thirty ſailors, and wounded his Excellency in the ſhoulder.

WARSAW, Feb. 5. We have juſt received accounts that the confederates have taken Cracow, with all the magazines and artillery.

CRACOW, Feb. 5. The Confederates have taken the caſtle of this capital, and placed a garriſon of men therein. A conſiderable ſum of money, and great quantities of proviſions of all kinds, have by this conqueſt fallen into the hands of the Confederates. The Ruſſians are already in motion, and it is not doubted but that they will uſe their utmoſt efforts to repair this loſs as ſoon as poſſible.

HAMBURGH, Feb 7. The moſt authentic accounts from our correſpondents at Denmark do not pretend to penetrate the real cauſe of the late revolution, which ſeems to have taken its riſe more from the political views of the courts of Paris and Berlin, than from any infidelity exerciſed towards the King by thoſe who ſhould have been the moſt attached to him. Our ſituation is at any rate a very precarious one, for if the courts of Sweden, Paris, Berlin, and Copenhagen, unite to oppoſe the Ruſſians, which is generally believed to be the caſe, we cannot long maintain our independency, and in all probability the Hanſe Towns, which from the twelfth century have made ſo reſpectable a maritime figure, and poſſeſſed the greateſt part of the trade of Europe, will in a ſhort time become the wretched appendages to the dominions of a great northern monarch. But to the preſent matter: the King of Denmark, once a monarch of unlimited power, is now a ſlave in his own palace, and acts juſt as he is dictated to by the Queen Dowager and the new Council. The parade they made on his birth-day the 29th ult. was truly ridiculous, and even penetrated by the meaneſt of the populace, who could not but perceive this appearance of attention to his Majeſty as only a cover to the horrid ſcene that will in a ſhort time take place, and end in the deſtruction of himſelf, Queen, and eldeſt ſon.——How far Great-Britain will be a tame ſpectator of theſe wrongs, the politicians muſt decide.

We have advice from Peterſburgh, that the Empreſs of Ruſſia hath juſt permitted the exportation of corn in all parts of her empire. This important news, conſidering the ſcarcity and dearneſs of grain, affords great joy to the traders and people of this city.

Our correſpondent at Vienna writes, that they are carrying on all ſorts of preparations for an approaching war, with indefatigable diligence. An immenſe quantity of biſcuit is ordered to be made directly, all the officers have received orders to be with their reſpective regiments with the utmoſt diligence and diſpatch, and eleven regiments of cavalry are ordered to march immediately from Hungary into Walachia.

VIENNA, Feb. 8. It is reported that the Imperial troops, to the number of 80,000 men, will ſhortly encamp at Peterwaradin; and that eight regiments of cavalry, and ſix of infantry, will be ſent to Koniggratz.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, Feb 21.

"The Daniſh reſident here had a conference a few days ago of the States General, but the object of it is a profound ſecret to the publick, and it is thought that it will be a long time before the motives for the revolution which has happened at Copenhagen will be truly known. We hear no more of the marriage which was talked of between the King of Poland and the Princeſs Sophia Albertina, of Sweden, whom it is now ſaid the Queen Dowager of Denmark has her Eye upon for her ſon Prince Frederick."

This day arrived the mails from France and Holland, by which we learn, that the Confederates have made themſelves maſters of the city and caſtle of Cracow by ſurpriſe."

The ſame mails mention, from Copenhagen, that the Queen is now permitted to walk out two miles diſtance from the caſtle of Cronenburg; but that they have changed the Lady of her Bedchamber. Her name is alſo omitted in the publick prayers.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 11. The commiſſioners charged with carrying on the proceſs againſt the priſoners of the ſtate have juſt iſſued an ordinance, by virtue of which all thoſe who have received any preſents from the Counts de Stepenſee and Brand, in the name of the King and Queen, muſt reſtore them.

LONDON,

Feb. 10. By the death of the late Princeſs Dowager, there is a ſaving in his Majeſty's Civil Liſt of 16,000l.

Her Royal Highneſs had by an Act of Parliament of the 10th of King George II. a revenue of 50,000l. per ann. for life, in caſe ſhe ſurvived the Prince, which was to be paid quarterly, and the firſt payment took place five days after his deceaſe; 40,000l. of that annuity was to be paid out of the revenues of the Poſt-Office, and the other 10,000l. out of the duties of Exciſe.

When the Duke of Cumberland heard of the death of his Royal Mother, he burſt into tears, and remained in ſuch an inconſolable ſtate the whole day, that he could ſcarcely be prevailed upon to take any refreſhment.

Till within this fortnight, there was no apparent alteration in the ſtate of her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Dowager of Wales's illneſs from that ſhe has been in for ſome weeks. The diſagreeable news from the North, though communicated to her in as favourable terms as poſſible, was obſerved to produce ſymptoms of a nature bordering on unfavourable. About four or five days ago, ſhe was thought much better, and her phyſicians were of opinion, taking the air would be ſerviceable; after this ſhe remained ſomething better, but on Thurſday night grew dangerouſly ill, from which time ſhe languiſhed in great agonies till ſhe died. She retained her ſenſes to the laſt, and ſeemed deſirous that the King and Queen and Princeſs of Brunſwick ſhould ſtay with her, apprehending, 'tis imagined, her life was very near a period.

The Princeſs Dowager in her laſt interview with the King wrung his hands very hard, and in words to this effect took her leave of him:—"My dear ſon, you are the King of a great people, be if poſſible the King of a happy one; ſtudy the real welfare of your ſubjects, not the wiſhes of the factious; and may you gain a brighter crown in heaven, than that which I leave you here on earth."

The Princeſs Dowager has died extremely poor, the charities which ſhe diſpoſed of being too numerous to admit an accumulation of wealth, and her bounty feeding many families who never knew the hand that relieved them, and will now too certainly make a moſt diſagreeable diſcovery.

At night a corn mill at Bromley, in Eſſex, took fire, which communicated itſelf to two others adjoining, and entirely conſumed them, with all the flour and corn. The damage is computed at 10,000l. beſides greatly damaging the dwelling-houſe adjoining.

A very great man in the oppoſition, in its being remarked to him that the minority ſeemed now to have given up entirely the publick cauſe in Parliament, was pleaſed to ſay, "Sir, we are good ſubjects, and feel for the diſtreſſes of our King——the publick cauſe is not abandoned, nor injured by a trifling ſuſpenſion——but a man muſt have a heart of ſteel, indeed, not to let matters paſs ſmoothly on (taking care, however, that no real injury is offered the conſtitution by a corrupt majority) whilſt his Sovereign is racked with tortures, which a man of humanity would ſcarcely wiſh even his greateſt enemy to ſuffer."

Feb. 11. A Correſpondent obſerves, that we ſhall now diſcover whether the Princeſs Dowager of Wales really had that influence upon our national Councils the oppoſition would make us believe. That ſhe was a woman endowed with a maſculine underſtanding; that ſhe was an excellent friend, a moſt engaging companion, and an affectionate parent, cannot be denied: but whether ſhe was really buſied in forming parties to encroach upon our liberties, or whether the torrent of abuſe caſt upon this Lady aroſe only from the popular prejudices of the vulgar; this, adds our correſpondent, her death, though in other reſpects a melancholy event, will in ſome meaſure bring to light.

Yeſterday both Houſes of Parliament voted addreſſes of condolance to his Majeſty, on the deceaſe of the Princeſs Dowager of Wales, the Lords to go with white ſtaves, and ſuch of the Commons as are of the Privy Council.

Feb. 21. The Houſe having inadvertently thanked Dr. Nowell for his ſermon on the 30th of January, it was delivered to the Members. On reading it, there appeared in all the Members an univerſal deteſtation of the high church doctrines contained in it, it being to all intents a libel on King and people; but as the thanks of the houſe had already been voted, they could not conſiſtently now cenſure it; but as a ſide reflection, it was moved, that in future the ſermon ſhould be printed before the parſon was thanked for it. Lord North, though he could not defend the doctrines of the preacher, yet moved the order of the day, to get rid of ſuch a reflection as this would have been on him.

The paſſages objected to are theſe:

"It has indeed been frequently aſſerted, that this tempeſt was raiſed by other cauſes; that the deſpotic diſpoſition, the arbitrary proceedings, and the tyrannical government of the King, after numberleſs oppreſſions patiently ſubmitted to, rouſed at length the ſpirit of an injured people in defence of their liberty and laws; that they had frequently applied for redreſs of grievances, had often petitioned for their rights, had uſed every method of perſuaſion and remonſtrance without ſucceſs, before they had recourſe to thoſe meaſures which a ſenſe of their injuries inſpired, and neceſſities ſufficiently juſtified. But to every unprejudiced perſon this apology for rebellion will appear as groundleſs as it is baſe. Their complaints preceded even their pretended grievances, and continued after thoſe grievances were redreſſed. They felt indeed one, which, to men of their caſt, will ever be a real grievance; the eſtabliſhment of epiſcopacy in the church, and monarchy in the ſtate; of both which their levelling principles were equally ſubverſive.

"In vain ſhall we look for the beginning of thoſe evils from any real or pretended grievances, from any undue ſtretches of prerogative, from any abuſe of Royal power. Thoſe favourite topics upon which the enemies of our conſtitution ſo vehemently declaim. No; whatever colour theſe pretences might lend to rebellion, the ground-work of it was more deeply laid in the principles of the times, in the factious zeal, and turbulent ſpirit of man devoted to enthuſiaſm, phrenzy, and madneſs.

"And while we behold the bright reſemblance of thoſe princely virtues, which adorned the Royal Martyr, now ſhining forth in the perſon of our gracious Sovereign, let us earneſtly addreſs the Throne of Mercy, that the guilt of an ungrateful, abandoned people may not cauſe this ſun to be withdrawn from us, nor quench the light of Iſrael."

Feb. 26. Yeſterday a motion was made for expunging out of their Journals the thanks that were ordered to be given to a Rev. Divine for his Sermon, preached before them the 30th of laſt month, which was carried in the affirmative, on a diviſion of 150 againſt 51.

The following is an authentic copy of the laconic letter which Mr. Charles Fox ſent to Lord North, previous to his reſignation:

"My Lord,

"You have groſsly inſulted me, and I will reſent "it. I am juſt now going to ſet out for St. James's "to reſign my ſeat at the treaſury board to the King.

"I am, my Lord,

"Your Lordſhip's humble ſervant,"

"Thurſday, 12 o'clock. C. J. FOX."

The reſignation of Mr. Charles Fox, we are aſſured, was owing to a diſpute between him and Lord Sandwich, who had diſpoſed of a conſiderable poſt in the navy, which had been promiſed to a friend of the former.

His Majeſty has appointed Capt. Shuldham, late Commander of his Majeſty's ſhip Royal Oak, to be Admiral and Commander in Chief of his Majeſty's ſhips on the Newfoundland ſtation, in the room of Commodore Byron, whoſe time is expired.

Feb. 27. Tueſday night an expreſs was ſent from the Admiralty to Portſmouth, for the men to work double tides, in order to get the men of war fitting out there, compleated for ſea, as ſoon as poſſible; the ſame orders were ſent to Plymouth and Chatham.

It is ſaid, that the whole military eſtabliſhment of the Britiſh Colonies is to conſiſt of 13000 effective men, excluſive of their militia.

March 3. Yeſterday a motion was made in the Lower Houſe, by Mr. M. for expunging out of the Kalendar, the obſervance of the 30th of January, in commemoration of King Charles's Martyrdom; the debates thereon contained upwards of two hours, when the previous queſtion being put, the Houſe divided, and there appeared for the queſtion 97, and againſt it 125, after which the Houſe adjourned to this day.

The following letter was lately written by the King of Denmark to his Queen:

"MADAM,

"I pity your preſent juſt fate. Let this prove my laſt adieu. I wiſh you a ſincere and Chriſtian repentance.

CHRISTIAN, REX."

March 4. We are credibly informed, that a fleet of men of war are ordered to be got ready to proceed to the Baltic.

The bill for incorporating and well governing the ſociety of free and accepted Maſons, has been read the firſt time, and ordered to be read a ſecond.

The enſigns of the Bath were given to Mr. Keith, as a reward for his late ſpirited behaviour, in defence of the Queen Conſort; and we are told his Majeſty is ſo greatly pleaſed with Mr. Keith's conduct, that he has ordered all the uſual expences, attending the creation of a Knight, to be defrayed out of the privy purſe.

It is imagined, that the oppoſition will divide a greater number againſt the ſecond reading of the royal marriage bill in the Houſe of Commons, in its preſent form, than upon any publick queſtion ſince the year 1764.

The 4th of March, the Houſe of Commons was fuller than it had been this ſeſſion. Mr. Sawbridge made his motion for ſhortening the duration of Parliaments.

He was ſeconded by Mr. Townſend, who ſaid, that his friend had moved it as a great conſtitutional queſtion, and he hoped it would be conſidered as ſuch; for his part he ſhould always conſider that queſtion as one of the greateſt, that could come before that Houſe, to make elections frequent, would be to make them free: as his worthy friend and brother Alderman had ſaid ſo much upon the ſubject, he ſhould content himſelf with ſeconding it.

Mr. Cox got up and obſerved, that he could not think the honourable Gentleman had gone far enough; that it was the corruption of the times that would prevent a free election; that had he moved, or could find out a way to aboliſh that, he would readily join him in the preſent queſtion, but whilſt that ſubſiſted, he could not come into the preſent queſtion, as giving any proſpect of a more free election and repreſentation than at preſent. The Houſe divided, Noes 251. Ayes. 83.

The 2d of March the debates in the Houſe of Lords were upon the bill, "for the better regulating the future marriage of the Royal family."

Lord Temple in the courſe of the debate remarked, with a mixture of ſpirit and concern, that the tone of the bill was exactly in uniſon with the whole ſtrain of politics for theſe laſt nine years.

The D—— of R——d begged and prayed, to be ſent to the Tower: Upon which a facetious Member ſaid, that they never gave any thing to beggars in that Houſe.

Lord Rockingham's toaſt is, ſucceſs and ſecurity to the Hanoverian ſucceſſion.

The Lords Rockingham and Temple, and the Biſhops of Lincoln and Peterborough, ſpoke a conſiderable time in the Houſe of Lords on the third reading of the Royal marriage bill. Lord Camden ſpoke almoſt an hour; he was anſwered by Lord Mansfield, who ſpoke an hour and five minutes, and was replied to by Lord Temple.

Principal Speakers in the Houſe of Lords on the Bill.

Lord Rockingham	Biſhop of Glouceſter
Lord Chancellor	Lord Shelburne
Lord Pomfret, to order	Lord Suffolk
Lord Chancellor	Duke of Richmond
Lord Rockingham	Lord Weymouth
Lord Camden	Lord Rockingham
Lord Mansfield	Lord Dartmouth
Lord Temple	Lord Rockingham
Lord Pomfret	Duke of Richmond
Lord Lyttleton	Lord Mansfield
Biſhop of Oxford	Lord Marchmont.

The bill paſſed the Houſe of Lords 90 to 26.

March 6. A ſpirited Proteſt was entered on the Lords Journals againſt the Royal Marriage bill, the Diſſentients were, Richmond, Abergaveny, Portland, Abingdon, Rockingham, Fitzwilliams, Stamford, Dorſet, Farrington, Milton, Devonſhire, Albermarle, Craven, Temple, Radnor, Clifton, Lyttleton, John Bangor.

The Duke of Cumberland was in the Houſe the whole time of the debates, and claimed the pity of every one preſent, from his viſible agitation of mind. He did not ſpeak, though, in the fulneſs of his heart, he was ſeveral times on his legs, ſeemingly for that purpoſe.

Moſt of the Cabinet Lords, it is ſaid, whatever appearance they may aſſume, do by no means reliſh the bill in the preſent form.

All thoughts of a change in the Miniſtry are laid aſide, on account, it is ſaid, of the late contentions on the Royal marriage bill.

March 7. Yeſterday the Lords Committee ſat on the Tea bill.

The Lords of the Treaſury have now appointed three Gentlemen jointly with John Temple, Eſq; to be Surveyors General of the Cuſtoms in England, at the ſalary of 400 l. a year. John Granier, Eſq; is appointed Paymaſter of his Majeſty's forces in North-America.

At a late Privy Council, meaſures were reſolved on (which are to be laid before the Parliament) for ſupplying the long-complained want of a Paper currency in the American Colonies.

At a Meeting of the Supporters of the Bill of Rights, it appeared, that 1500 l. of Mr. Wilkes's debt remained yet unpaid.

On the 23d of February, while Col. Thomas Eyre was ſpeaking to a bill before the Houſe of Commons in Ireland, he was ſeized with an apoplectic fit, and dropped down dead in his place.

THIRTY DOLLARS REWARD.

Virginia, Fredericksburg, April 8, 1772.

RAN away on Monday Night the 6th Inst. from my Plantation, in Culpepper, near Frederick Zimmerman's Ordinary, an English Convict Servant Man, named JOHN BOCKER, about 33 Years old, 5 Feet 8 Inches high, narrow Visage, ruddy Countenance, a little pitted with the Small-Pox, dark Hair not tied, born in Yorkshire, speaks broad, fond of Liquor, and talkative; he has been near Two Years in the Country, a good Ditcher and Farmer: His Clothes consisted of a Frize Frock almost new, not lined, with flat Metal Buttons, cut in the Fashion with a Button and Strap to the Hip, his Breeches the same Cloth, but more wore, if any Jacket, an old black one, new Felt Hat, Yarn Stockings, Country Shoes tied with Strings, the Heels and Soles thick nailed.——Went off at the same Time with the above, another English Convict Man, belonging to Mr. William Allen, adjoining to my Plantation, named THOMAS DRYBROW, a tall stout large Fellow, full swarthy Face, which appears as if swelled or bloated, wears his own thick curled sandy coloured Hair: Had on and took with him, Two Osnabrig Shirts, a Pair of old brown Trousers, old Leather Breeches, coarse Kersey Fly Coat, and Metal Buttons, the Body lined with Plaid, an old blue Jacket without Sleeves, good Shoes, old Felt Hat, and Country white Yarn Hose, much wore; it is probable they may change Clothes with each other. The above Reward shall be paid to any Person who will deliver the said Servants to Mr. Edward Stevens, Merchant, at Culpepper Court-House, the Overseer of my Plantation, or to myself in Fredericksburg, or Fifteen Dollars if secured in any Jail, so we get them again, or in Proportion for either of them.

(tf) JAMES DUNCANSON.

STRAYED from the Subscriber, living near George-Town, Frederick County, on the 21st of April, 1771, a bright coloured Strawberry roan Mare thinly mixed, upwards of 14 Hands high, 7 Years old, thin, long backed, and long docked, a blaze Face, white Mane and Tail, carries her Ears wide when out of Hand, trots, paces, and gallops, was trimed in the Spring every where usual for trimming, has a small Scar or Nick in the near Side of her Bearing, and when standing still, her off hinder Footlock Joint bends forward, as if favoured for some Weakness, (although none to be discovered in using her) and at the same Time her Hoof rests full on the Ground, and sometimes takes it in her Head when rid, not to leave the Company, or go by or from Places without giving the Rider some Trouble, especially Places that she is used to, and I think has no Brand: Also a black bay or Mouse coloured black, Two Years old Horse Colt, likely to have a few white Hairs over him, neither cut, docked, nor branded, Three-eighths of the Blood, small Head and Ears, short backed, never haltered, something skittish, trots, and fondest of galloping.—The Colt followed the Mare away, though did not come off her, and it's likely he may have left her: The Colt I bred.——Whoever will deliver me the aforesaid Mare, shall be paid Three Pounds, and their reasonable Expences; and Forty Shillings for the Colt, and reasonable Expences. I should be obliged to every Gentleman that reads the Papers, to enquire of those that do not read them for the above Strays.

POETS CORNER.

To the PRINTER.

Upper Marlborough, Saturday Afternoon, 25th April.

SIR,

CROSSING the River to Day, I could not help admiring, as I have frequently done before, the native innocent Beauties of my fair and industrious Countrywoman (at the Ferry) who seems to sport with a Labour her tender Frame is ill calculated for. The following Thoughts (innocent as mine always are) occurred to me as I sat in the Boat, which, having Occasion to stop here, I have hastily put upon Paper, and now enclose to you. Being not accustomed to this Kind of Writing, I can only say that, if the Verses are bad, the Subject deserves a better Poet, and I hope therefore that you will recommend the same to the more able Pens of your Weekly Correspondents.

I am, Sir,
Your very humble Servant,
B. C.

To an OLD TUNE.

MOLLY MOG, Black-Ey'd Susan, and Baldock's fair Maid,
What Nymph has not sung, what Swain has not play'd,
But Three Thousand Miles for Beauties why rove,
When close at my Door I have dear Ally Dove.
Dear Ally Dove, &c.

Since Gabrielle great Henry, since Cath'rine the Czar,
By Beauty cou'd conquer, unconquer'd by War,
Why shou'd you, ye Prudes, my Flame disapprove,
That glows with such Ardour for sweet Ally Dove,
&c. &c.

From the Waves, like fair Venus, my Naiad first sprung,
Like Dian she's chaste, and like Hebe she's young,
Yet nor Venus, nor Dian, nor Hebe could move
Such a War in my Soul, as can fair Ally Dove.
&c. &c.

Ye Gods, who inhabit Olympus' tall Brow,
Who deem that no Pleasures we Mortals can know,
Oh come, and this Instant your Errors remove
By viewing the Beauties of dear Ally Dove.
&c. &c.

Had my Charmer, all simplex Munditiis, but been
On Ida, when Paris to Beauty's fair Queen
Allotted the Prize,——No Goddess had strove,
O'eraw'd by the Charms of my sweet Ally Dove.
&c. &c.

What tho' in Elysium, 'tis said, I might fix
By, Ferry free, crossing that oozy Stream Styx,
Old Charon his Boat shall for me never shove,
Whilst I can be ferry'd by dear Ally Dove.
&c. &c.

The Stream of Patuxent, its Sedges among,
Which elsewhere in Torrens rolls rapid along,
Whilst passing her Cottage, is scarce seen to move
Enraptur'd like me with the sweet Ally Dove.
&c. &c.

Go view yon pure Lilly, perfuming the Air,
'Tis sweet like my Love, and is almost as fair,
But its Sweetness and Fairness soon Time shall remove,
Whilst thou shalt bloom ever, my dear Ally Dove.
&c. &c.

I ask not for Riches, they're frail fleeting Things,
I scorn all your Titles ye poor paltry Kings,
I wish but, delighted, in Mount Pleasant Grove
To stray and to toy with my dear Ally Dove.
&c. &c.

Were I sentenc'd to travel thro' some dreary Wild,
Where no Sun ever shone, and no Season e'er smil'd,
No Season shou'd alter, no Frost chill the Love
That burns in my Bosom for dear Ally Dove.
&c. &c.

St. Mary's County, March 12, 1772.

COMMITTED to my Custody as a Runaway, Reuben Faugher: Has on, a blue Jacket, Country Cloth Breeches, white Yarn Hose, and a Pair of old Shoes, is about 5 Feet 4 or 5 Inches high. His Master (if any) is desired to take him away, and pay Charges.

Jan. 6, 1772.

To be sold at Frederick-Town, on Thursday the 28th Day of May next, 6300 Acres of Land, by Virtue of an Act of Assembly of the Province of Maryland, impowering the Executors of Col. Thomas Colvill, to grant Deeds to Mr. John Semple, his Heirs, or Assigns, for a certain Tract of Land, called Merryland, in Frederick County, and Province aforesaid, containing 6300 Acres.

WE the Subscribers being Assigns of the said Semple, and having received from the Executors of Col. Colvill, sufficient Deeds for the Land aforesaid, do hereby undertake to dispose of the same, at the Time and Place above-mentioned. It is laid off into Lots, in the most advantageous Manner, so that any one of them will make One, Two, or Three good Settlements, as will appear by the Plat, a Copy of which may be seen at the Coffee-Houses of Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Annapolis, in the Hands of Cumberland Wilson, Dumfries, Alex Steuart, George-Town, and Mr. Charles Beatty, Frederick-Town, who will direct those desirous of seeing the Land, to a Person acquainted with the Boundaries, on or near the Premises, who will shew them the same; but as we intend to meet on the Spot ourselves a few Days before the Sale, in order to run the Lines, &c. those inclinable to purchase will have an Opportunity of viewing it with us, by attending from Monday the 25th, till the 28th, the Day of Sale.

Its Situation on Patowmack River must be of considerable Advantage to it, and in Time may add immensely to its Value, when the Navigation is opened, which may be done without any great Difficulty for a considerable Distance; there being at present a tolerable Navigation, both below and above, it lying near the Shanandoa Falls, from whence up to Fort-Cumberland, 110 Miles, Battoes now frequently pass, and downwards to the Seneca Falls, 25 Miles, which is within 20 Miles of George-Town.—It will be sold in separate Lots, or all together, for Sterling or Current Money, as may best suit the Purchasers; one Third to be paid down at the Sale, one Third payable in Twelve Months, and the other in Two Years, giving Bond and Security with Interest, till paid.—A most undoubted Title will be made to the Purchasers, by
